

Using Namespace in Workbench

The attached process(if not visible File | Navigation Panel | Attachments) makes a web service call to Amazon, the input is a ISBN number. The process then makes use of namespace to extract the item details

I have also included the response from the web service call. In case you have difficulty in invoking web service you could look into the attached xml file

UsingNamespace.xml is the process file

Response.xml is the actual response from the webservice call
